Harrold's Pedigreed Strain, American Grown Tuberous Begonia tubers have made a wide reputation for themselves in the retail trade nationally but we have not, until now, been able to consider making general wholesale offers because of this wide acceptance and demand. ## TUBEROUS BEGONIAS

TUBEROUS BEGONIA SEED

This is a good time to place orders for your seed requirements of Tuberous Begonia for delivery as the new crop becomes available. This will place it in your hands in time for early planting. In warmer climates the early planting is to be advised in order to have the plants well established for your early season. Plantings may be continued until Feb. or March for bloom the first year. We supply a very complete 18 page cultural booklet with every seed, tuber or plant shipment of these without charge.

HARDY CARNATION PLANTS

This group has been extremely popular with our trade for many years and they are well adapted to hardy garden culture within the limitations mentioned. More hardy than greenhouse Carnations and more satisfactory. Although somewhat smaller they are spice scented and very desirable. Grown from seed we have rogued them to color and doubleness as closely as we can. They are, however, subject to some drift in doubleness under varying situations and there may be a few off colors we have not been able to get because the plant had not bloomed. All are strong year old stock.
